RATES HIS OWN STANDING.

Hon. Thomas B. Rickey, (the designation "honorable" being here prefixed by reason of the fact that Thomas B. Rickey has served several terms in the legislature of the state of Nevada as senator, and without intimation as to where he should have served time) in his affidavit recently published in the Appeal, states among other statements, that in the several counties in which the State Bank and Trust company operated, that he is a man whom the residents of said counties generally believe would do anything for money, and that he cannot get a fair and impartial trial in said counties, and therefore asks the court to order the removal of said cause to some other county. Of course, the counties designated by the Hon. Thomas B. Rickey are the counties in which he has operated and is best known.

The affidavit filed by Mr. Rickey is so humiliating and debasing as to amount to most convincing proof that he is a man who will do anything for money. No man possessed of the slightest respect for himself and family would ever admit under his oath that he is so low and so utterly devoid of common decency or common honesty, that he finally called upon himself the execration of his fellow men, being those who know him best.

No depositor or creditor of the State Bank and Trust company has ever rated him as low as he has rated himself, under oath, and the only excuse he can ever make is that his attorneys influenced him to do it.—Carson Appeal.

OLD SPORT
HAD HOT TIME
ON A PICNIC

INSTEAD OF SEVERAL HOURS' OUTING HE STAYED ALL NIGHT

Some one speaking of the scenery among the Santa Cruz mountains, started the old sport to tell a story of his former day when he attended a picnic given at the big trees in the Santa Cruz mountains which ended in an all night affair for all hands who attended.

The picnic was given by an organization called the Pinta drum corps, and about 2000 people attended. It was mid-summer and as the day was hot, the heat caused the rails to spread at a sharp curve on the side of the mountain. The engine left the track and plowed its way over the wooden ties for about 80 feet, then toppled against the mountain. It was a very lucky thing for those aboard she did not go over the opposite side for below was a deep ravine almost straight down for a distance of about 200 feet, and had the engine dragged the cars after it there is no telling how many people would have been dashed to death. However, luck was favorable and no one was heard to make any kick over the six mile walk to the grounds, after the lucky escape.

The wreck was in a bad place for the wrecking crew to work, being in a narrow mountain cut and hard to get at, so it was not until the next morning that the picknickers were able to start homeward, and they were forced to make an all night celebration of their pleasure trip. When they realized that they must stay out all night they made the most of it, built big log fires and sat around and sang all the songs on the calendar, while the members of the drum corps made the rounds of all the farm houses in the district and bought all the bread, milk, coffee and eggs to be found. The night was warm and balmy, while the moon shone clear and full.

"A better time I never had," said the narrator, "and all hands entered into the fun with the best of spirit. The musicians played until everyone was tired out from dancing, but the singing and fun went on around the big fires, with plenty of hot coffee and eatables, and the picnic went on in the best of fashion all night long, when the repairs to the road had been completed and all were glad to return to their homes, tired, but none the worse for their experience, and avowing that they had had the best time ever."

AFTER AN ELK

W. R. Bellinger informs us that a large elk was seen last Tuesday in the Ruby mountains, back of John Holland's ranch in Lamolle valley. Several shots were fired at it from a small calibre rifle and two or three of the bullets are thought to have struck it. This is the first time an elk has been seen in the Ruby mountains and people are wondering where it came from. Hunting parties are out after the animal.—Elko Independent.

"THE GIRL FROM RECTORS"
IS COMING

WILL SHOW AT THE NEVADA THEATRE NEXT THURS. DAY NIGHT

Theatre-goers are anticipating with a remarkable show of interest the forthcoming production in this city of "The Girl from Rectors," which comes direct from an entire season's run at Weber's Music Hall, New York.

"The Girl from Rectors" is declared by the metropolitan critics to be one of the funniest high-class productions made there in many years. The plot deals with the actions of a young society woman of Battle Creek, Mich., who is charitably inclined. She spends most of her time in her own circle at home, but her husband, a judge at the court of Shanghai, is away for such long periods she decided to go to New York for recreation and rest. She is attracted by the glaring lights at Rectors' and there she makes her headquarters. In the course of time she earns the sobriquet of "The Girl from Rectors," and on her next visit to Battle Creek she meets at the home of a society friend many of those of the Rector circle. She had been posing as the daughter of a Buffalo man and while "The Girl" in a way, is endeavoring to explain her dual identity complications arise which reveal a series of situations that keep the audience in a roar to the final curtain.

The engagement of "The Girl" here is limited to one night only, at the Nevada theatre next Thursday night. Seats in advance at Miners' drug store.

STOCK MARKET

Only the opening market quotations were received yesterday by Broker Epstine, who attended the mining congress at Goldfield in the afternoon. The prices show no change as they are practically what was recorded on the closing of the previous day. There is no price on Pittsburg-Silver Peak, which sold at 79 cents Friday. This skyrocket jump has been the cause of considerable comment and many rumors concerning the settlement of the law suit against the company have been going the rounds.
